Excellent grad test practice

Helped me go from failing the psychometrics to making them a strong point of my job applications. Would like to see some critical thinking (Watson Glaser Critical Thinking Appraisal) tests. Thanks

Really useful tests to prep for grad scheme assessments

These tests were really helpful when preparing for my grad scheme assessments (particularly for the civil service). Good feedback and a lot of tests so you can really progress.

Very helpful!

I purchased a package of paid tests (verbal reasoning and verbal inductive) before my SHL test for a training contract. These tests were very similar to the one I took and gave valuable practice before the real one! I was impressed that the practice tests also provided reasoning and logic behind the answers unlike most practice tests which simply just give the right answer. Definitely recommend to all!

Nothing to fault. Fantastic Service

I used Graduates First to practice for psychometric tests - numerical and verbal reasoning and a behavioural test. The practice tests and the detailed feedback truly helped in determining how I'd fare against such tests. 10/10 Definitely recommend.

Great preparation

Did a few online tests as preparations for numerical, verbal and logical reasoning tests for job applications. The Graduatesfirst tests gave me a good idea on how the actual test will look like and what kind of questions to expect.

An excellent service, which provided me with everything I needed in preparation for my tests.

An excellent service, which provided me with numerous practice tests to improve in certain areas. Additionally, feedback was given in weaker areas to improve further in the future.

Great Preparation Tests.

The psychometric tests are representative of (and sometimes harder than) those that companies actually use in their recruitment for internships/graduate schemes. The free sample size isn't massive, but there is easily enough there to give your abilities a good boost. Retaking the tests still provides value, it's the process of solving the problems quickly under pressure rather than getting the right answers which matters in practice.
